

PROPERTY OF THE
LIBRARY OF THE

JUL 30 1938

WOMAN'S COLLEGE
UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

THE WOMAN'S COLLEGE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF
NORTH CAROLINA

THE ALUMNAE NEWS

JULY 1938

THE ALUMNAE NEWS

PUBLISHED FOUR TIMES A YEAR: JULY, NOVEMBER, FEBRUARY AND APRIL, BY THE ALUMNAE AND FORMER STUDENTS ASSOCIATION OF THE WOMAN'S COLLEGE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, GREENSBORO

MEMBER OF AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

CLARA BOOTH BYRD, Editor

OFFICERS AND BOARD MEMBERS

President, VAUGHN WHITE HOLOMAN (MRS. HENRY D.)
Vice President, ANNIE L. STAFFORD GREENFIELD (MRS. KENNETH)
Honorary President, LAURA H. COIT
General Secretary, CLARA B. BYRD

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Lillie Boney Williams (Mrs. R. Murphy), Marion Stevens Hood (Mrs. Gurney P.), Carrie Tabor Stevens (Mrs. C. E.), Lillian Massey, Caroline Goforth Hogue (Mrs. Richard), Julia Montgomery Street (Mrs. C. A.), Dr. Mary Potcat, Marjorie Mendenhall, Martha Blakeney Hodges (Mrs. Luther), Eoline Everett May (Mrs. Gordon Hill).

Vol. XXVII

JULY, 1938

No. 1

CONTENTS

	PAGE
A NOTE ON COMMENCEMENT . . .	1
REPORT OF THE ALUMNAE PRESIDENT	4
Eoline Everett May
PROGRAM OF RECITAL BY FACULTY OF SCHOOL OF MUSIC	6
ALUMNAE HOUSE BUILDING FUND	6
A DIGEST OF THE BACCALAUREATE SERMON . . .	7
BRIEF OF THE BUILDING COMMITTEE REPORT	8
KEEPING UP WITH THE ALUMNAE	9

Patronize Our Advertisers

	Page
E. A. Woodell—Printing	17
Blue Bird Taxi	18
Byrum's University of Dance . . .	19
Phil R. Carlton, Inc.— Real Estate, Insurance, etc. . .	20
Sancton & Dickerson— Jewelers and Optometrists . . .	21
Betty Lou Hat Shoppe	21
Jos. J. Stone & Co.—Printing . . .	21
Montaldo's— Ladies' Wear	Back Cover
Mock-Judson Voehringer— Hosiery	Back Cover

A Note on Commencement

The 46th commencement really began for the alumnae on Friday afternoon, June 3, when daughters of the College, from far and near, arrived in Alumnae House — headquarters for the first time this year, greeted, and were greatly greeted in turn, registered, received room assignments, and then with the aid of white-coated porters — special in their honor for this occasion — trekked over to Hinshaw, where the majority of the alumnae were housed this year, both because Spencer was being remodeled and the Avenue consequently blocked with building materials, and also because Hinshaw was the first dormitory to be vacated by students, and hence could be put in early readiness for commencement guests.

Dinner was anywhere you liked it, and with whomsoever. But at eight o'clock, Alumnae House was all alight again. There was much sound of laughter and conviviality — faculty and alumnae were at home together. Gathered around the punch table in the great Reception Hall, seated in groups in the library, living room, or on the balcony — in fact, literally the House over, we talked and visited to our heart's content in our own home. Along about ten o'clock, some of us slipped away to Rosenthal Gymnasium to watch the Senior Ball. Some of us went into midnight huddles in the same old way, ending the day in the dawning! But some of us admitted a fondness for the feel of soft sheets and went contentedly to bed at what might be termed a "godly" hour.

Saturday morning was pleasant enough for the kind of clothes we usually wear. If it had been a degree cooler, we might have lamented the coat we simply would not bring along. And by evening, and the play in Aycock, with the moonlight over the campus, and the shadowy dark beneath the trees, we were ready for our sheerest evening things.

In between, there had been, first, a meeting of the Board of Trustees in the Pecky Cypress Room in Alumnae

House. Then at eleven o'clock, came the General Assembly in Students Building. Eoline Everett May, impeccable presiding officer in navy blue and white, received representatives of the Senior Class, presented to the Association by Marjorie Mendenhall, vice president, and introduced Laura Bateman '38, who in a five-minute talk acquitted herself so well that Dean Jackson later rather summed up his own good speech when he said, referring to her, "See for yourselves what we are doing here."

First among the reports was that of the Auditing Committee, made by the chairman, Mary Wills McCulloch. "The books of the Secretary-Treasurer have been examined and found correct," she stated.

Next, Mrs. May presented Annie Cherry, chairman of the House Committee, who gave somewhat in detail a picture of the activities in the House this year. From day to day, the four corners of the nation are meeting within its walls. But chiefest, of course, the House is serving the alum-

ENTRANCE TO RECEPTION HALL, ALUMNAE HOUSE

HIS EXCELLENCY, GOVERNOR CLYDE R. HOEY
Ex officio chairman of the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina, who spoke on Commencement Day

nae, the faculty, the College as a whole, and the students, daily, continuously, and in a spirit of true hospitality.

The next report, that of the Building Committee, was given by May Tomlinson, chairman. She read the names of those who had contributed to the Fund this year. She also told of our latest purchase, a music room grand piano, antique mahogany finish, Chippendale Period, built especially for the reception hall by the Steinway people. In keeping with our policy, Alumnae House and its furnishings are still free from all debt. She then related that at the meeting of the Board of Trustees in 1937, a resolution had been passed authorizing the Alumnae Association to have a portrait of Dr. Foust painted and hung in Alumnae House. At that time, we were unable to foresee how this resolution could be put into effect. But acting upon the faith that whatever should be done could be done, the resolution was put upon the books. She said that something interesting had happened during the year, and that she would like to ask Margaret Moser, Everlasting President of the Class of 1935, to come to the rostrum. Margaret told us that she and her classmates were entirely unaware of the resolution passed by the Board, but that of themselves they had recognized the fitness of such an action, and had made the suggestion to the officers of the Association. As a result, by individual vote of the class, the Class of 1935 had given the fund necessary to have the portrait painted, supplemented by a gift from Frances White '27, whose husband, Henry G. Rood, Jr., had been commissioned to paint the portrait this summer.

The report of the Alumnae Office was made by the Alumnae Secretary. It centered in brief resume around seven "items"—the House, alumnae records, the magazine, research, funds, local associations, class reunions.

At this point, Mrs. May gave her presidential report, published in full in these pages.

Dr. Jackson Speaks

With these and various other details behind us, Mrs. May presented Dr. Jackson, dean of administration. The Dean spoke of the approaching celebration of the 50th anniversary of the College in 1942, saying that this commemoration will be a part of what has been named the Five-Year Plan. To bring the plan to successful fruition, three committees had been appointed—one from the Trustees of the University, another from the Faculty, and a third representing the Alumnae Association. Between now and 1942 and the celebration, the College is looking toward the accomplishment of a number of objectives—among them, he mentioned by way of physical expansion, a science building, the complete remodelling of Spencer (for lack of funds "Rockingham" will retain its ancient gime and glory until more money can be found!), one and perhaps two additional dormitories, and the remodelling of McIver building. President Graham had stated, said Dean Jackson, that a science building for the Woman's College would have first place on the building program to be requested of the next legislature by the University. This was good news. Dean Jackson also raised several academic questions with the group. What was to be done, for instance, with the one-year commercial course? He also spoke of the fine spirit and attitude among the students, and of the heavy demands for admission next year. The Woman's College is carrying on, he told us, in concluding his excellent talk.

Mrs. May said that there were several alumnae in the audience whom she would like to have "take a bow": Dr. Ezda Deviney, head of the Department of Zoology, Florida State College for Women, elected to Phi Beta Kappa at her alma mater this spring; Mary Louise McDearman, librarian, H. Leslie Perry Memorial Library, Henderson, new president of the North Carolina Library Association; Lelia Judson Tuttle, professor of history and dean of women, Soochow University, Soochow, China. She read a telegram of greeting from Ruth Vick Everett, presenting her in absentia as the new field secretary of the North Carolina Education Association.

Mrs. May also read this appreciated message from Dr. Foust: "Please extend to the alumnae my affectionate greetings. I regret more than I can say that I am unable to be with you today." It was moved that a message in reply be sent to him from the Alumnae Association. Also that a message be sent to Mrs. McIver.

The president extended the sincere appreciation of the Association to Annie Beam Funderburk, chairman of the Housing Committee, and her associates, Anne Fulton Carter and Elizabeth Hathaway, for the fine work they had done in tucking us in and out and making us happy and comfortable; to Ione Grogan, chairman of the Open House Committee, and her associates, Miss Jamison and Dorothy Burnsides Bell, and the corps of recent Greensboro alumnae who served with them as ever charming hostesses in Alumnae House throughout the commencement season; and to Mrs. Boyd and Miss Coolidge, whose kindnesses to the alumnae these many years is known to us all.

Just here Mrs. May came in for a bow herself, when a motion of appreciation was offered from the floor for her own splendid work during the presidential year.

Report of the Nominating Committee

Always a climactic spot on the Assembly program is the report giving the result of the balloting for new officers and board members. Lillian Massey, chairman of the committee and member of the Alumnae Board of Trustees, tantalized us for only a moment before coming out with the facts we were eager to hear: President: Vaughn White Holoman; Vice President, Annie Lee Stafford Greenfield; members of the Board of Trustees: Martha Blakeney Hodges, Mary Potteat, Marjorie Stratford Mendenhall; Auditing Committee, Pearl Wyche, Fannie Starr Mitchell, Kate Robinson Farr. Miss Massey accompanied the new president to the rostrum, and in fitting words, Mrs. Holoman accepted the challenge of her election, and bespoke for the Association and its work another year of progress.

Luncheon was held in South Dining Hall. Here Marjorie Mendenhall, vice president, presided and did the honors. The occasion was featured by President Graham, an honor guest, who spoke briefly, stressing the vital need of financial support for the whole university in addition to that which the State provides; and emphasizing the might and power of small gifts accumulated from many givers. Lelia Tuttle also filled a few minutes with her revealing talk about China, and the impression she had gained from recent months of travel throughout

PRESENTING THE NEW OFFICERS AND BOARD MEMBERS

President: Vaughn White Holoman (Mrs. H. D.) '07, Rich Square.

Vice President: Annie L. Stafford Greenfield (Mrs. Kenneth) '19, Kernersville.

Members of the Board of Trustees: Martha Blakeney Hodges (Mrs. Luther) '18, Spray; Mary Potteat, Ph.D., Durham; Marjorie Mendenhall '20, Greensboro.

Auditing Committee:

Pearl Wyche '03, Fannie Starr Mitchell '14, Kate Robinson Farr (Mrs. W. B., Jr.) '31, all of Greensboro.

her own country — especially as related to America and the war spirit.

Luncheon over, we hastened back to Alumnae House, where members of the music faculty — Dean Altvaer, violinist; Alma Lissow Oncley, pianist; George E. Henry, 'cellist; Dorothy Lee Clement, pianist; and Paul Oncley, baritone, gave a recital complimentary to the visiting alumnae. The delightful program so beautifully rendered, is published elsewhere in these pages.

RESIDENCE OF DEAN AND MRS. W. C. JACKSON ON THE COLLEGE CAMPUS
Scene of the informal gathering of faculty, seniors and their guests, alumnae and friends on the afternoon of Commencement Sunday

After the recital, the crowd surged out to front campus, where the ever fascinating Class Day exercises took place. Perhaps the feature of this occasion was the announcement that the Class was leaving as a gift to the College a fund to be used for painting the portrait of Dean Jackson.

What was left by this time of Alumnae Day? Why — the class supper at six o'clock. And then another crowning event — the play: "Stage Door," adjudged one of the very best performances Mr. Taylor and his Play-Likers have yet produced at the commencement season.

• • •

Sunday morning, Dr. Robert Speer preached the Baccalaureate Sermon. The campus liked it so well that a digest is printed herein. In the afternoon, George Thompson was heard in an organ recital in the Music Building. Later, Dean and Mrs. Jackson received informally at their residence on the campus.

On Monday — after hearing Governor Hoey and President Graham speak; after listening to their specially chosen representative, Alma Hall, speak the final words for them all; and after having laid upon their heads and hearts the parting blessing of Dean Jackson, 296 seniors received from the hand of the Governor and President Graham diplomas, attesting to their learning and character, and admitting them to "all the rights, honors and privileges" of the degree conferred.

LAURA BATEMAN '38,
Columbia, N. C.

Senior speaker, General Assembly, Alumnae Day.

Report of the Alumnae President

EOLINE EVERETT MAY

*Alumnae General Assembly, Students Building
Saturday Morning, June 4, 1938*

Reading time: 9½ min.

Fellow Alumnae:

A year ago today when I stood before you, it was to thank you for the signal honor you had bestowed upon me in selecting me for the second time within a period of five years to serve you in the official capacity of president. The substance of my remarks on that occasion later appeared in print in the midsummer Alumnae News of 1937, together with an illustrative print suggestive of much explanatory matter which I need not repeat.

This morning I am here to reaffirm my originally expressed appreciation which, nurtured by the experiences, observations, impressions and attendant blessings of the year, is rooted more deeply than could have been true a twelve-month past; and likewise to review for you, briefly and in kaleidoscopic fashion only, the now closing chapter in the history of our Association that, from the viewpoint of the office I represent, is a drama in which idealism and realism, now wedded, now divorced, have been major performers.

In the going, I shall avail myself of the prerogative of this office in submitting for your consideration only a few recommendations born of the matter of the year. My report will embrace four major divisions: namely, general relations, college relations, alumnae association relations, and our relations with the future, created or maintained in connection with my office.

Under "general relations" it is fitting perhaps that I feature an allusion to my radio broadcast on the evening of October 5 over station WBT, Charlotte, North Carolina. Seventy-two local alumnae units, in meeting at that time, tuned in on the program in which I spoke jointly with Dr. W. C. Jackson, dean of administration of the College, and after his generally informative address, heard my remarks centering about Alumnae House.

That numbers who were not alumnae of this college also heard the broadcast in its entirety, has been brought to my attention; and from some of these, as well as from many of our alumnae, have come various types of messages of generous acknowledgment.

Incident to the whole broadcast program there was emphatic publicity, not only through letters which I officially wrote and which were sent to alumnae from the executives office of the Association over my signature, but also through the newspapers of the State by way of the usual publicity channel here, and the newspapers of my present and former home towns and of my husband's former home community, by virtue of personal affiliations.

In this connection also it was my privilege to visit while in Charlotte the Alumnae Club of that city, and both to renew and to form there, acquaintanceships among those present.

General relations through the office of president of the Alumnae Association this year have also included, in addition to those already cited, approximately eight top-of-the-column newspaper stories and as many re-writes, at least three of which were accompanied by photographic prints. The first of these stories appearing in the Danville (Virginia) Register last June was typical in that its principal substance was in the nature of favorable publicity for the College either directly or through the medium of an activity of the Alumnae Association.

On behalf of the Association, and in the way of general relations, I twice talked with Mr. Oscar Hyler, a well-known and popular entertainer, whose home and executive position are in Danville, and secured his consent to appear on a program which the Alumnae Association was sponsoring at the College. Details of the plan for this particular event were subsequently changed, and he did not appear. I trust, however, that our Association may have his services at some future time.

This post bestowed by you brought to me during the year three invitations to address organizations, one of which I was able to accept. In April I appeared before the Study Club of Yanceyville, and was introduced as President of the Alumnae Association of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, by Miss Mary Wilson Brown, an alumna of the College.

My speech was by request in reference to my present professional work at Stratford College, Danville. And I shall say, in passing, that an appreciable part of our general relations program this year has centered here, among those Junior College students, from practically every section of the United States.

It is of some significance also that upon one occasion I was introduced to the assembled Alumnae Association of Stratford College as president of this similar but larger organization belonging to the Woman's division of the Greater University.

Our Alumnae Association, in general, through the office of the executive secretary is, of course, continuously making contacts with the world beyond the confines of our College and ourselves. Let me therefore reiterate that this personalized survey does not purport to be a secretarial account, from that angle nor any other.

The General Association, through the office of the executive secretary, is continuously in touch with the College, as represented by its various units of personnel, whereas the office of president of the Association has but an intermittent record to present of its contacts of this kind throughout the past year.

Beginning with the faculty, I recall with feeling that it was my privilege last September to express orally, impromptu, yet on behalf of the alumnae, "Godspeed" fraught with appreciation, to Dr. Julius I. Foust, president emeritus of the College, on the eve of his departure for a long stay in Florida. The three keywords of his admonition in parting, I pass on to you now: they were, "Faith, Courage, Determination."

It was in October that I sat, to-

Retiring President EOLINE EVERETT MAY and Incoming President
VAUGHN WHITE HOLOMAN

Photographed at College on Alumnae Day

gether with Clara Byrd, executive secretary of the Association, and May Lovelace Tomlinson, chairman of the Alumnae House Building Committee, in the office of Dean Jackson and heard him say, in reply to my question, that "the greatest need of the College today is scholarships."

Acting upon the idea within his statement, I at once began to frame a series of editorials for The Alumnae News through which I variously besought the Alumnae to begin to think concertedly in terms of supplying this need. And my first recommendation for the immediate future is that you act upon Dr. Jackson's strongly endorsed suggestion. I further advise that the bulk of the work of establishing fitting scholarships here at the College be done through class units rather than through possibly over-exploited club units.

It was also in October that I came to the campus to represent the Alumnae Association on the program held in Aycock Auditorium on the morning of Founder's Day. Dr. Frank Graham, president of our Greater University, spoke briefly on this occasion. And so did several others.

In my short talk, I said in regard to Alumnae House, that we alumnae are desirous, as we have shown from the unfolding of the original blue print with its inclusion of student quarters in the building, till now with these plans complete, of suitably sharing this, our campus home. I reminded the students that they are tomorrow's alumnae and will soon enter into the heritage of joint ownership of our beautiful building. I asked that they determine to preserve, beginning now, the spotless artistry of their heritage.

Dr. Graham, in his well-received address, impressed upon my mind through one of his aptly-chosen anecdotes what appeared to be his recognition of the power of the alumnae plus the traditions of the past. At a time of sea-side flood, he said, the typical "character" of his allegory expressed a feeling that he too had experienced. "It ain't de flood water dat I'se concerned about; its all dem three thousand miles o' water out yonder backed up agin us," is the substance of that significant speech.

My second recommendation therefore, is an appendage to Dr. Graham's reminder. It is this: in an inseparable loyalty to the strong principles upon which Dr. Charles Duncan McIver founded this College not quite fifty years ago, let the "miles and miles" of us, with whatever power we may have, beautifully insist that the College in its present era as the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina be to its generation what the North Carolina College for Women, the State Normal and Industrial College, and the State Normal School—names marking its eras of the past—each was to its own respective generation. That presupposes a coordination with progress, and it urges a continued stress upon old-timey godliness and an upholding of the motto "Service," ideally interpreted and practically applied.

In my further relations with the College this year I have faithfully read The Carolinian, student newspaper, mirror of campus life and exponent of student thinking. And I am persuaded that the alumnae of tomorrow are a remarkable group.

I became personally acquainted with a large number of the many members of the senior class who were introduced to me at a reception in Alumnae House, tendered that class by our association. Further, in an attempt to enroll the seniors as active members of the Alumnae Association before the dissemination of graduation, I also met a select group of them at an afternoon gathering in Alumnae House.

In this connection it is my earnest recommendation that with each succeeding year more and more means be specifically employed toward the creating of a firm bond of fellowship between the alumnae and the students of our College.

Among the college-relations letters that I have written as president of the Association, was one that went out, through the executive secretary's office, to every member of the senior class. I also wrote directly to Mrs. Virginia Terrell Lathrop, one of our alumnae, who heads the department of publicity at the College, requesting her to lend a hand, through the medium of the press, in so presenting alumnae activities that their worth might be clear. Much of this was in the interest of increased active membership in the Association.

Of all my relationships and contacts through the office of president, those belonging especially to the Alumnae Association, as represented by the office of the executive secretary, and by Miss Byrd herself, the secretary, have of course been most numerous and at the same time from the perspective of certain visibility, most enlightening.

In addition to the occasions already referred to, I have made trips from Danville to Alumnae House for two separate board meetings, for a meeting with the Alumnae Seminar Committee, for a meeting of the Alumnae Committee on the observance of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the College, and for an alumnae benefit lecture recital by Paul Green, playwright, at which it was my privilege to preside. Furthermore, I have, for special conferences, met Miss Byrd in Danville on at least six different occasions. Invariably I have been impressed by the fine efficiency of the executive department of our Association in all its components.

I, therefore, submit to the alumnae, as an integral part of my report, this my official recognition of the extraordinary worth of that one whom we call "executive secretary" and who in the performance of her manifold duties, has proved herself to be a capable executive, a brilliant editor, a gracious hostess, a verstile individual, and a dependable friend.

Now in conclusion, having already touched briefly upon future activities of the Association with which my office this year has been related (and I did no more than mention the Alumnae Seminar toward which much discussion has already gone on throughout the past few months, or our 50th Anniversary Committee, headed by Miss Hattie S. Parrott, which began to function some time ago), may I remind you that our tasks may be great and the demands upon us, as individual alumnae, and as local units, or as a General Association, may be tremendous, but with the challenge of youth ever before us, youth crying to us for opportunity, we cannot fail nor falter. Forward we must go even though the Red Sea lie before us. And forward we may go, with full certainty that the Land of Promise lies beyond, if ever and always we cleave to and hold fast the three magical words of victory: faith, courage, determination.

Program of the Recital by Members of the Faculty of the School of Music, Presented in Alumnae House on Saturday Afternoon, June 4, at 2:45, Complimentary to the Alumnae

H. Hugh Altvater, Violinist
Alma Lissow Oncley, Pianist
George E. Henry, Cellist
Paul B. Oncley, Baritone
Dorothy Lee Clement, Pianist
Sonata, B flat major Schubert
Mr. Altvater, Mrs. Oncley, Mr. Henry
Eri tu (from "Un Ballo di Maschera") Verdi
Mr. Oncley
Nocturne, C sharp minor Chopin
Reflets dans l'eau Debussy
Spanish Dance No. 1, from La Vie Breve de Falla
Miss Clement
The Heart Worships Holst
Out in the Fields with God Altvater
The Green River Carpenter
An Old Song Re-sung Griffes
Mr. Oncley
Dumky Trio Dvorak
Lento maestoso
Andante
Allegro
Mr. Altvater, Mrs. Oncley, Mr. Henry

Alumnae House Building Fund

Balance June 1, 1937 $ 801.00

RECEIPTS

Contributions, payments of subscriptions, Paul Green Benefit	$1,832.83
Birthday Gifts from local Associations	420.95
Total	$3,054.78

DISBURSEMENTS

Security National Bank, final payments on note	$1,200.00
Walter D. Moses & Co., piano	1,700.00
Morrison-Neese Company	5.00
Small items of furnishings	5.26
Security National Bank, service charge	4.77
E. J. Forney, Tr. (expense in connection with dedication)	11.80
Jos. J. Stone & Co., printing	30.00
Total	$2,956.83
Balance June 1, 1938	$ 97.95
(Deposited in Security National Bank, Greensboro)

A Digest of the Baccalaureate Sermon

SUBJECT:

The Building Principle

By DR. ROBERT E. SPEER

Delivered in Aycock Auditorium, Sunday Morning, June 5, 1938

I wish to speak of a principle which is fundamental to human progress, which is widely enough honored today with lip-service, but which is far from dominating our thought and action. It is set forth by St. Paul in a letter to the Thessalonian Christians: "Wherefore comfort yourselves together and build one another up, even as also ye do." Here we have the principle of constructive building avowed by Paul himself and urged upon others as the true process and purpose of life. "Let us therefore," he writes also to the Romans, "follow after the things which make for peace and things wherewith one may build another up." The metaphor is a favorite one in the New Testament. "Build yourselves up," writes Jude. "Ye also as living stones," writes Peter, "are built up a spiritual house . . . the stone which the builders rejected, the same was made the head of the corner."

The contrary principle of tearing down is one of the easiest and most familiar things with which we have to do. "The Wreckers" and the wrecking instinct are always at work against "The Builders" and the building principle. We see it in politics. Not one nation in the world is resting securely today on the foundations on which it stood twenty-five years ago. Russia and Spain are contemporary witnesses. We see the same process of destruction in human organizations. Two generations ago the Evangelical Alliance was one of the most powerful movements for good in the world. Its meeting in New York City in 1873 was one of the greatest religious gatherings ever assembled. A remnant of it remains in England. In America it vanished long ago. It had required long years to build. A few years sufficed for its disappearance.

In the field of social ideas and institutions the disintegrating forces are ceaselessly at work, attacking marriage and the home, the right observance of Sunday, old and hard won standards of honesty, industry, and frugality. The destruction of reputations and established historical judgments has been for a generation the lucrative literary fashion. Strachey's "Eminent Victorians" is a sufficient illustration of the flood of books pursuing the same method of assault on character and defamations of the dead. Bernard Allen in his book, "Gordon and the Sudan," utterly demolished Strachey's ignorant and malicious myth regarding Gordon. The same thing has been done in the case of Florence Nightingale, whom Strachey also sought to besmirch.

The great and difficult and worthy adventure of life is not destruction but building. The great men and women of the past have been builders. To this day the traveler finds on the highways of Persia the magnificent brick caravansaries, 999 and each different, which Shah Abbas the Great built for the caravans on the great trade routes of his day more than three centuries ago. Napoleon will be remembered not for the havoc he wrought, but for such constructive work as he did which still abides. As the great men have been builders, so the great eras of history have been as Horace Bushnell called them the "Building Eras," the age of Pericles and Phidias, of Leonardo da Vinci and Michael Angelo, the thirteenth century with the great cathedrals.

Beyond all glory of human creativeness stands the Great Builder God. Paul relates God to man in this very function of creative building. "For we are God's fellow-workers: ye are God's husbandry, God's building." This of course is the Christian principle and ideal. This great creative, up-building principle in Christ must also be central and controlling in us—body and soul. Here indeed is the rational and spiritual basis for athletics.

Some years ago one of the popular novels was a story entitled Queed. Two of its most engaging characters were the hero Queed and Klinker, the prize fighter, to whom Queed was "the little Doctor": "Presently Klinker said another thing that his friend the little Doctor remembered for a long time, 'Do you know what's the finish line in Scripture, Doc? But He spake of the temple of His body. I heard a minister get that off in a church once in a sermon, and I don't guess I'll ever forget it. A dandy, ain't it? . . . Exercise and live straight. . . . Keep your temple strong and clean. If I was a parson, I tell you, I'd go right to Seventh and Center next Saturday and give a talk to them blaggards on that. But He spake of . . .'"!

The building principle holds in all our human relations. This is the very purpose and use of friendship. Read the accounts of boyhood and student friendships in De Quincy's "Confessions of an English Opium Eater" and in Sir J. J. Thompson's recently published "Recollections" and see how richly the principle of constructive and creative human intercourse can play upon friends for what Paul called their mutual upbuilding.

This law of helpfulness and upbuilding is the principle of human service, illustrated in many spheres, but nowhere better than in the creative work of good teachers. Some of our greatest schools today are simply the monuments of creative and upbuilding lives in the field of education. This is the right use of life—to build it as covenant cement into the walls of cities and into the characters of men. It is the right use of all things. Power is given for this kind of creative use. Power is prostitution when it is used for tearing down. "The power which the Lord has given me," St. Paul held, "was for building up, not for tearing down." This was the law relating to human speech: "Let no corrupt speech proceed out of your mouth, but such as is good for building up as the need may be, that it may give grace to them that hear."

And whence is a new and better world to come, a world where

"Man to man united
And every wrong thing righted,
The whole world shall be lighted
As Eden was of old?"

except from lives which share with God His creative purpose?

There can be no question that this is God's will—"Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." In this will we are to hold fast to all the good of our heritage. On a true conservation of the past, wasting none of the inheritance, we are to go on with the building undismayed by the temper and tests of our day.

Instead of deriding William Blake's ecstatic call, it were better for us if we shared it to the full:

"Bring me my bow of burnished gold,
Bring me my arrows of desire,
Bring me my spear—
O clouds unfold!
Bring me my chariot of fire.

"I will not rest from mental strife
Nor shall my sword sleep in my hand
Till we have built Jerusalem
In England's green and pleasant land."

We seem far from William Blake's dream in "England's green and pleasant land" and quite as far in our own. But the day will come. "The builder and maker is God." In the midst of all the confusion and apparent hopelessness the walls really rise. As William Watson wrote:

"The new age stands as yet
Half built against the sky,
Open to every threat
Of storms that clamor by.
While scaffolding veils the walls
And dim dust floats and falls,
As moving to and fro
Their tasks the masons fly."

Brief of the Building Committee Report

The names of the individual contributors to the Fund for the year 1937-38 were read by the chairman of the committee, and grateful appreciation voted. In addition, thanks were extended to the following Alumnae Clubs and Associations which sent a Birthday Gift to the Fund:

Alamance (by Margaret McConnell Holt, chairman)
Atlanta, Georgia (by Eva Lee Sink Weir, chairman)
Bladen (by Lois MacDougald, secretary-treasurer)
Caldwell (by Helen Petrie Hollifield, chairman)
Caswell (by Mary Wilson Brown, chairman)
Chowan (by Margaret Smith Davis)
Cleveland (by Elvira Foust Plonk, chairman)
Craven (by Gertrude Carraway)
Danville, Virginia (by Thetis Shepherd, chairman)
Durham (by Dare Holleman, secretary)
Edgecombe (by Em Austin, chairman)
Greene (by Mary Exum)

Guilford (by Ellen Stone Scott, treasurer)
High Point (by Luna Daile Bradford Parker, chairman)
Hoke (by Frances Marshburn Gatlin, chairman)
Jackson (by Anne Albright, chairman)
Lee (by Josephine Perry, secretary-treasurer)
Lenoir (by Leafy Spear Guthrie)
Lincoln (by Annie E. Lee Jonas, chairman)
Lexington (by Dorothy Weddington, secretary-treasurer)
Macon (by Helen Leach Macon, chairman)
Martin (by Elizabeth Hunt Adkins, chairman)
Mecklenburg (by Evelyn Wilkins Hennessy, treasurer)
New Hanover (by Annie Cummings Laster, secretary)
Norfolk, Virginia (by Jennie Eagle, chairman)
Northampton (by Ruth Vick Everett, chairman)
Roanoke Rapids (by Thelma Garriss, chairman)
Robeson County (by Georgia McMillan Dukes, chairman)
Rockingham (by Martha Blakeney Hodges)
Rutherford (by Lucille Callahan McFarland, chairman)

Stanley (by Margie Humphrey Grigg, chairman)
Vance (by Katharine Teague, vice-chairman)
Washington City (by Frances Gibson Satterfield, chairman)
Wayne (by Susan Borden, chairman)
Wilson (by Mary K. McLamb Benson, secretary)

(Note: Catawba County Association also sent in a Birthday Gift, but it arrived after the fiscal year had closed.)

Appreciation was also acknowledged for the following gifts:

From the Cabarrus County Association (by Julia Watson Maulden, chairman), a collection of beautiful towels and pillow covers.

From the Haywood County Association (by Grace Albright Stamey, chairman), hand woven luncheon set, the work of the Balsam Weavers—Elizabeth McCracken Medford.

From the State of Connecticut Club (by Margaret Bridgers, chairman), two sheets and two pillow covers.

From the Nashville, Tenn., Club (by Evelyn Caviler, chairman), lovely towels.

From Anne Crouch Ford '26, Montclair, N. J., one copy of Death Sails with Magellan, a new novel by her husband, Charles Ford, for the Alumnae House Library.

From Elizabeth Rollins Wallace '26, Durham, a handsome copy of biography, Madam Curie, for the Alumnae House Library.

GWENDOLYN MACMULLIN '38
Ramsour, N. C.

Who won the Weil Fellowship, biggest honor for students in the gift of the College. Awarded first in 1924.

Keeping Up With the Alumnae

1894

One of Annie and Mary Wiley's sisters, Mittie Towles, has made a distinctive collection of rare china, which is exhibited in a cherry cupboard quite as rare and beautiful as the china itself. Old lustre, Wedgewood and French bisque pieces are to be found in the collection. Outstanding in age and beauty is the Washington Liverpool lustre jug—"rare because most Liverpool lustre jugs and bowls are made to commemorate British characters and events," but the jug in this collection was made to honor General George Washington. On one side is a medallion showing the tomb of Washington. Also such details as the thirteen stars in the flag, the bee hive, American eagle, horn of plenty, are included. A recent edition of a Winston-Salem paper carried an interesting article describing the collection, and an equally interesting photograph of the exhibit.

1895

Barnette Miller, Ph.D., sailed for England on July 3. She will be back at her post at Wellesley College in the fall.

1896

Evelina O. Wiggins sends greetings to all her College friends and classmates. During the past two years her mother has been ill—twice critically so, and Evelina has spent much time in caring for her. We send in return our love and appreciation.

1898

Lillie (Boney) Williams and her husband, Rev. R. Murphy Williams, have received many congratulations during the past months upon the successful completion of the new addition—handsome wing for religious education activities—to the Church of the Covenant, of which Mr. Williams is pastor. These two people are together very much a Greensboro institution, for though they belong particularly to the congregation of the Church of the Covenant, all the people of the city claim them.

1899

Quoths Lucy (Ragsdale) Coffin, answering our (not Hamlet's) soliloquy:

"If it will not be too great a surprise, I'll just not take time to soliloquize. But here the two dollars goes to you And I hope all the slow ones likewise will do.

Though 'tis almost two score years ago

Since I left the dear 'Normal' to go to and fro,

I love her. Although she has grown beyond me,

Her progress I always rejoice to see."

1900

Lelia Tuttle landed in America in September, 1937, and since that time, she has been speaking on China and visiting institutions of learning in this country, helping to make China intelligible to the American people, and learning all that she can of her native country and its people at the present time, to carry back to China when she returns. From April 25-30, she was a member of an American seminar in Washington, studying the political, social, and economic phases of our government. She has spoken often in Methodist churches and for missionary societies of that church, but she has also travelled from New York to Texas, and further on south to Mexico City, and as far west as Oklahoma and Arkansas, and has done Tennessee, North Carolina, and Virginia pretty thoroughly. She says she is really studying America and her people.

1901

Annie Hundley represented her class at commencement this year.

1902

Fannie (Moseley) Barrett came to see her daughter, Frances, graduate with the degree of B.S.M.

Virginia (Brown) Douglas was a "school girl" again this summer. She enrolled for two courses in the summer session—one in contemporary poetry, the other on the contemporary novel, and had a wonderful time with both.

1903

Bert (Albright) Moore, Graham; Lyda (Faison) Barnes, Pinetops; Genevieve (Jennings) Hammer; and Lillian Massey, High Point, all came back for commencement.

Lyda (Faison) Barnes has four children—Margaret, who teaches piano at Pinetops, their home; Leslie, a private nurse in Washington City; Edwin, Jr., connected with the Shell Gas and Oil Company; and Faison, last year junior in high school, chief marshal, winner of debater's medal, and also scholarship medal. It was good to have her here.

Annie (Kizer) Bost was last year president of the North Carolina Conference for Social Service, and in that capacity had general charge of the splendid conference held in Greensboro the latter part of April. Mrs. Bost is Superintendent of the North Carolina Charities and Public Welfare.

1904

Victoria and Lelia Byerly were both present for commencement this year. Victoria does pre-natal nursing for her brother, a physician. She also teaches a Sunday School class of twenty-four young girls, of whom she is immensely proud. Victoria recently organized a young woman's missionary circle in her church, and this also numbers twenty-four young women, who are doing fine work.

1905

At the second annual Education Conference for Elementary Teachers held on the campus during June, Ruth Fitzgerald, Professor of Education at Woman's College, was the opening speaker.

Ethel (Harris) Kirby writes from Philadelphia, where she is still connected with Temple University. She says, "Give my love to all my friends at the College. I shall always have deepest affection and appreciation for my Alma Mater."

Annie (McIver) Young entertained at her home in Irving Park the latter part of June, honoring her sister, Lula M. (McIver) Scott Dickinson, bride of June 1, who was visiting for a few days in Greensboro.

It was a pleasure to see Claude Poin-dexter, Winston-Salem, among the Alumnae Day guests.

1906

On May 30, Josie (Doub) Bennett entertained at tea at her home in Rocky Mount, honoring Charlotte Thorpe '32, who was married on June eighth.

1908

Elvira (Foust) Plonk, Kings Mountain, had the pleasure of seeing her splendid daughter, Douglas, graduate from Woman's College this year.

Nettie (Rudisill) Godwin's daughter, Julia Bright, will be a senior at Woman's College next year. She is a marshal, elected by the Dikean Society, and last year was chairman of the Junior-Senior dance.

1909

Nettie (Dixon) Smith came over from Reidsville for Alumnae Day.

1910

Mellie Cotchett has been granted a leave of absence from her work at Mare Island, California, and is travelling in the British Isles and France this summer. She visited Laura (Weill) Cone in Greensboro before sailing.

Alice (Ledbetter) Walters' attractive daughter, Alice, received her B.S.M. degree from Woman's College this commencement.

Marion (Stevens) Hood and son, Lee Rawlings, accompanied Mr. Hood, State Bank Commissioner, on a ten-day trip to Cuba and Nassau during June. Earlier in the month, Mr. Hood went to Washington City, where as Chairman of the Executive Committee of the National Association of the Supervisors of State Banks, he presided over a meeting of this Committee, held in the Board Room of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The Hoods are building a new home in Raleigh, but Marion left the thrilling occupation long enough to come to the College for Alumnae Day.

Jane Summerell used an original subject, "Laughter," as the theme for a talk which she made for the Wednesday Literary Club, Greensboro, at one of its spring meetings. Agnes Repllier's book, "The Pursuit of Laughter," provided the basis of the delightful discourse.

Ex-10 Mary (Jeffress) Whaley was elected District Director of the sixth district of the North Carolina Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, at the annual convention held in Leaksville early in May. She is also Program Chairman of the Guilford Chapter of the U.D.C., and is active in the Guilford Battle Chapter of the D.A.R., the Greensboro Woman's Club, and the Woman's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian Church.

Ex-10 Virginia (Townsend) Hayes is President of the Woman's Auxiliary of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association. She is also actively identified with Parent-Teacher work and other civic enterprises in Greensboro.

1911

It was a great pleasure to have Catharine Erwin back at College for commencement. She came from Morganton.

1912

Dora Coates was last year President of the North Carolina Association of Childhood Education, one of the outstanding groups of women educators in the State. Dora is a very important member of the faculty of E.C.T.C.

Lucille (Kennett) Bagley was back at College for the first time in several years this June.

Patty Spruill "went West" soon after commencement. Stopped at Waynesville on the way out, and got some first lessons in mountain climbing.

1913

Ethel (Bollinger) Keiger is the new president of the Parent-Teacher Association, Aycock School. She has just completed her term as president of the Round Table Study Club. Ethel is a member of the committee composed of representatives of various civic organizations which met with the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce to give aid in preparing the prospectus regarding the proposed city auditorium to be presented to the City Council for action.

Florence (Jeffress) Hamilton, back for Commencement, is supervisor of the Resettlement work in Caswell, Alamance, and Orange counties.

Eva (Jordan) McFadden's daughter was a member of the graduating class this year. Eva's home is in Hendersonville.

1914

We very much missed the presence of Maud (Bunn) Battle during the commencement season. She was in the hospital in Rocky Mount the latter part of April, and has been recovering since then "as good as new."

Ethie (Garrett) Heinie's name appears among the commencement registrants. Her son, Frank Garrett, is now a student in the Greensboro High School.

May (McQueen) McPherson's daughter, Elizabeth, was graduated from the Fayetteville high school this spring as salutatorian of her class. Sue Harden, May's second daughter, was chief marshal, by merit of having led the junior class in scholarship. Well—it was to be expected, wasn't it? Being May's children, and college granddaughters, and all that!

1915

One of the delightful feature articles which has come from the pen of Gertrude Carraway recently was entitled "'Queen Dolly's' Birthday." It appeared in a May issue of the Greensboro Daily News. It is the story of Dolly Madison, Guilford County's contribution to the White House, born 170 years ago. She set a tradition for grace, good manners, and personal popularity which still lives, and she remains even in these modern days, an unparalleled example of "the perfect hostess."

Mazie (Kirkpatrick) Gainey and Ethel (Wells) Moore were both here for commencement.

1916

Rose (Blakeney) Parker went to New York the middle of June for a visit with Alice Sawyer, and to see the ever fascinating city. Her daughter, Anne Bickett, will be a talented freshman art major at Woman's College next fall.

Louise (Goodwin) Rankin was here for commencement for the first time in a number of years. Her husband is the new superintendent of the School for the Deaf, Morganton, the institution over which her father presided for many years. She has two fine sons. It was rather interesting to see Louise's surprise when one of her college contemporaries walked up to her and quoted several verses of poetry written by Louise during her college years.

Claire (Henley) Atkisson and her husband went to California in April for a month's visit.

Sadie (McBrayer) McCain started to drive to Greensboro on Friday before Alumnae Day, with the boys. They had an automobile accident, which Sadie says amounted to very little except in damage to the car, although they could not continue their trip—much to our regret.

Marie (Norwood) Reilly was a visitor on the campus the latter part of June. Her daughter will be a freshman here next year.

1917

Sidney (Dowty) Faucette and Tamsy M. (Hill) Daniel came over for commencement together.

1918

Susan (Green) Finch is now serving as a member of the Board of Trustees of High Point College.

Martha (Blakeney) Hodges is this year first vice president of the Leaksville-Spray History Club. Martha and her husband went to Vermont the latter part of June to take their two daughters to camp.

Inabelle Coleman, Publicity Secretary of the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, delivered the missionary address on Sunday evening of the Meredith College commencement.

Sue Ramsey (Johnston) Ferguson is contact chairman of District III of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs in North Carolina. She served as chairman of the committee from the club which started the Alexander County library service, and during the three years of its existence it has accumulated 3,000 books which are loaned from 28 branches of book stations scattered over the County. Sue Ramsey highly recommends R. F. D. by Charles A. Smart for any city folks who contemplate moving to the farm. She says this book gives an accurate account of country life.

1919

Lucy Crisp has been spending this year with her sister, Lillian (Crisp) Lawrence '13, at their old home, Falkland. Lucy has been ill, but is making a fine recovery.

Mary D. Johnson is studying at Chapel Hill this summer. She visited Eoline (Everett) May at her home in Danville during June.

Alma (Rightsell) Pinnix played a leading part in the Greensboro Flower Show in May. She was responsible for the major project—a life-sized garden, 30 x 50 feet. White azalea, a pool with water, and an old brick wall were the chief features which made up the lovely green and white garden.

THE DAISY CHAIN

1920

Mary Esther Haynes teaches in the Biology Department of Central High School, Washington, D. C. She is now completing work on her M.A. degree in Botany at George Washington University.

Wilyjon (Medlock) Kennan is living in Burlington, Vermont, where her husband is teaching social science subjects and also the curriculum course and practice teaching at the University of Vermont. Dr. Kennan took the post formerly occupied by Dr. Reeder, who taught in our summer session a year or so ago. Wilyjon says they are conscious of quite an atavistic feeling at Vermont, since about a hundred years ago a forbear of her husband was one of the first four students to graduate there, and he also served as a member of the faculty until his death.

Lela (Wade) Phillips made the principal talk on one of the evening programs of the meeting held in Durham the middle of May by the newly created District 129 of Rotary International.

1921

Lottie Burnside, McLeansville; Willie Lou Jordan, Hendersonville; and Ruth (Winslow) Womack, Reidsville, were seen on the campus during commencement.

Willie Lou Jordan teaches in the Mills River School in Henderson County. It was a pleasure to have her present at commencement to see her niece graduate.

Lena (Kernodle) McDuffie won the sweepstakes prize given to the exhibitor scoring the most blue ribbon points at the Greensboro Flower Show the latter part of May. Congratulations!

Mary Sue (Weaver) Allison, who came to live in Greensboro last summer when her husband joined the faculty of Greensboro College, has been elected to teach in the Lindley Elementary school next year. She did substitute work, and filled out an unexpired term in this school during the past winter. Mary Sue has also recently been elected to membership in the O. Henry Study Club.

1922

Helen Dunn (Creasy) Hunter is one of the State leaders in Mental Hygiene work, and during the spring, addressed the Morganton Branch of the A.A.U.W. on that subject.

Joscelyn (McDowell) Williams agreed to do substitute work in the Morganton High School last year, but it all ended up in a full time job. Her sister, Anne Gordon, brought her small daughter over from Norris, Tennessee last April, for a visit with Joscelyn. Joscelyn and her husband were visitors in the Alumnae House on July 1.

1923

Grace (Albright) Stamey came down from Waynesville to spend commencement. She was on her way for a more extended trip North.

Dorothy Clement gave one of the series of evening recitals put on by the members of the faculty of the School of Music at the College last year. She appeared in the Recital Hall of the Music Building, playing a delightful program to an appreciative audience.

Katherine Gaston is a member of the faculty giving a six weeks course in dramatic art at the University of North Carolina this summer. She teaches regularly in the Lenoir High School.

Sarah (Harper) Jerome is the new president of the Greensboro Council of Garden Clubs and therefore automatically becomes chairman of the 1939 Flower Show. She has been an outstanding participant in Garden Club work in Greensboro for several years, and has been president of the Greensboro Junior League during this year. Sarah's husband recently severed his long connection with the Greensboro Daily News to become associated with Henry P. Foust in the insurance business.

Bertha Johnson came from Grifton for the commencement festivities.

Julia (Montgomery) Street is studying art at the Community Art School, Winston-Salem. She brought her daughter, Carol, and one of Carol's young friends, to commencement this year.

Mary Theresa (Peacock) Douglas attended the meeting of the American Library Association in Kansas City and talked on the Reorganization of the American Library Association as it Affects the School Libraries. Mary Theresa is president of the School Library section of the Southeastern Library Association. Mr. Charles Stone, former librarian at Woman's College, is president of this Association, which will meet in Atlanta next October.

Maitland (Sadler) Sykes is living now in Perrysburg, Ohio, having moved there last March from Brunswick, Georgia.

1924

Velma Beam was recently reelected president of the Greensboro Business and Professional Women's Club. This organization has made excellent progress during the past year under her leadership.

Blossom (Hudnell) Thomas' arrangement of white foxglove and foliage in a tall white container was judged the most striking of several arrangements submitted for criticism at the May meeting of the Garden-makers Club, Greensboro. Mr. Robert Skelton, member of the Art faculty at College, was the judge.

1925

Elizabeth Duffy, Ph.D., is spending the summer in New York City. In June she closed her first year as professor of Psychology at Woman's College. The latter part of April Elizabeth addressed the Psychology Club at Salem College, using the subject, "What is an Emotion?"

Congratulations to Mary Eliason, who received her Ph.D. in English from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, in June.

Ruth Mason plans to return to Woman's College next year for graduate study in home economics.

Velma Dare Matthews, Ph.D. in Botany from the University, 1930, has collaborated with Dr. W. C. Coker, head of the Department of Botany there, in the preparation of the book, "North American Flora," only recently come from the press. This is one of a series of 34 volumes being prepared by the New York Botanical Garden. Every plant grown in North America is to be included in this monumental work, and every volume is to be compiled by an expert in that field. Velma is now serving as head of the Department of Biology at Coker College, and teaching in addition courses in Botany and Zoology. She sailed on May 27 on the "City of Hamburg" for a summer of travel abroad. She is planning to visit England, Scotland, and France.

Mary B. Moore's husband, Irving E. Carlyle, is president of the Wake Forest College Alumni Association. They live in Winston-Salem, where Mr. Carlyle is an attorney.

Maxine (Taylor) Fountain's husband received his Ph.D. from Peabody College in June. The subject of his dissertation was, "A Study of Courses in Technical Writing," which has been published by the Engineering Experiment Station, State College, where he is a member of the faculty. He made one of the chief addresses at the annual meeting of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education at Texas A. and M. College the latter part of June. His subject was "Personnel and Methods in Technical Writing." Maxine went along with him, and of course they had a wonderful trip. Maxine and her husband attended the meeting of this same organization last year, when M.I.T. and Harvard were hosts in Boston. Maxine is enjoying Raleigh very much. She says she sees Blanche (Dellinger) Hamrick '25 and Neal (Seawell) Briggs '25 all along.

Lillian Williams received her M.A. degree from Columbia University this summer.

1926

Martha N. (Deaton) Clark writes from Sewanee, Tennessee, where her husband is a member of the faculty of the University of the South. They have a small daughter, Katherine Elizabeth, "the belle of Sewanee." Martha is planning to teach in the junior school of the Sewanee Military Academy next year. Her work is all restricted to the morning, and so she is quite excited at the thought of getting back into school again.

Gray (Fetter) Bedford and children, Gray Fetter and Russell, visited her parents in Greensboro for several weeks during June and July. They live in Greenwich, Conn.

Maude Query, director of the Lancaster (S. C.) County Library, is still delighted with her work there. She plans to see New England during her vacation. She says she longs for more news about Woman's College girls.

Ellen (Stone) Scott had an appendectomy last spring, incidentally following suit to her husband, taking the room he vacated at the hospital. The family is living in Greensboro now and they have two children who are pupils in Curry School on the campus.

Among the '26s we saw at commencement were Mary (Polk) Gordon, Katherine Sherrill, Ellen (Stone) Scott, and Wombra (McCombs) Anthony.

Thetis Shepherd is at Columbia University this summer working on her M.A. degree.

Carrie McLean Taylor taught a course on "The Activity Program in the Elementary School" at the Elon College summer session this year.

Ex-26 Myrtle Ellen LaBarr is national Publicity Chairman for the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. She represented the national organization at the State Convention held in Goldsboro the middle of last June, and also spoke on the program.

1927

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Carlyle Henley (Mary Elizabeth Hunt), a son, Herbert Carlyle, Jr., March 20, Kinston.

Marjorie (Bonitz) Burns was hostess at a meeting of representatives of various women's clubs in Asheboro last spring at a meeting sponsored by the Woman's Club to study parliamentary procedure. Miss Louise Alexander of the College faculty addressed the group.

Among those back for commencement: Grace (Redfearn) Alton, Wingate; Martha (Scarborough) Brooks, Kinston; Minnie Deans, Wilson; Elizabeth (Mebane) Reese, Hickory; Catherine Cox, Greensboro.

Minnie Deans teaches the third grade in the Frederick Woodard School, Wilson.

Josephine Hege served as Social Director at the College during the first summer session. She is counsellor in Anna Howard Shaw dormitory during the regular year.

Ruth Linney is the author of an illuminating article, "Mountaineers Are Not Unlike Other People," which appeared recently in the Greensboro Daily News.

Elizabeth (Mebane) Reese has been teaching Chemistry, Biology, and General Science in Granite Falls High School for the past three years and plans to return next fall. Her daughter, Martha Evelyn, is eight years old and enters the third grade next year.

1928

Born to Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Lindauer (Doris Hanvey), a second daughter, Beverly Ann, May 11, Kings Daughters Hospital, Portsmouth, Virginia. Carolyn, aged five, is extremely proud of her baby sister.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith, (Ina Stamper), a daughter, Sarah Hartman, April 9, Flushing, Long Island, N. Y.

Martha Biggs does specialized home economics work with the Farm Security Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Statesville.

Wilmer (Kuck) Borden reports one major move during the year—"the birth of a magnificent male, Robert Hanes. Aside from that I haven't been particularly active!" He is her second child, both boys.

Mary Louise McDearman, librarian at H. Leslie Perry Memorial Library, Henderson, has been awarded her B.S. degree in Library Science from Columbia University. She is the new president of the North Carolina Library Association. Mary Louise was back for her class reunion at commencement.

Winnie Alice Murphy is spending two months abroad this summer. She sailed on July 1 on the S. S. Berlin. Her journey takes her into eight countries through middle Europe. She gave lectures on Art History on the way over. They carried college credit.

Florence (Parkin) Lewis is hostess of the Chicod Teacherage, Beaufort, where her husband is principal of the school. There are 24 teachers. They have a son who will enter school next fall.

"Gibby" Satterfield wrote from Washington City: "Happily located—at least for a while." Her husband is with the United States Housing Authority. They bought a house last spring, and Gibby had her first experience as a gardener. Incidentally, she is working on a project initiated by the Washington Alumnae Club—that of writing friends and former students of Dr. McIver for experiences with him, memories, sayings, and so on, in an effort to get together a worth while "study" of the man. She says the work grows more interesting as the material increases. Any one who will send her a story, experience, or quotation relating to Dr. McIver will have her everlasting thanks. Her address is: Mrs. Boydston Satterfield, 5442 30th Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

Madge (Tweed) Matthews is principal of Hanes Elementary School, Winston-Salem, and still finds time to keep house and take an active part in church work. Last summer she and her husband made a month's tour of the New England States in a trailer! She was among those present for commencement this year.

Among those present for commencement were: Virginia (Batte) Johnson, Margaret (Beam) VanDusen, Martha Biggs, Joyce Cooper, Louise (Eagles) Williams, Sarah Foust, Elizabeth (Glascok) Owen, Constance (Gwaltney) Huntsberry, Evelyn (Gordon) Ripple, Martha (Hall) Clarke, Caroline (Harris) Henry, Mary Louise McDearman, Theresa (Marks) Condrey, Florence (Parkin) Lewis, Emily Rideoutte, Frances (Gibson) Satterfield, Virginia (Sloan) Swain, Madge (Tweed) Matthews, Frances (Whisnant) Roberts, and Frances (Willis) Porter.

Margaret Beam brought her fine young son, Donald 6½, to commencement with her. Louise Eagles has one child, Hugh Russell 6. Their home is at Red Oak. Sarah Foust teaches in the city schools of Charlotte. Elizabeth Glascok has two children, Franklyn Denning III 8, and Elizabeth 2½. Constance Gwaltney lives at Fort Benning, Georgia. She has two children, Walter A., Jr. 3½, and Henry Cleveland 5 months. Evelyn Gordon has a daughter, Nancy 7. Molly Hall has a son, Stevens Hall 1½. Molly lives in Louisville, Kentucky, where her husband has been canon at Christ Church Cathedral since September, 1937. She also teaches a class in "Family Relationships" in connection with the church. Caroline Harris lives in Corpus Christi, Texas. Theresa Marks has two children, Jimmie 3½, and Alethia 15 months. Florence Parkin has a son 5½. Virginia Sloan teaches home economics in the Woman's College of Furman University, Greenville. She has a four-year-old daughter, Betsy Ann, who came with her mother to commencement. Frances Whisnant has one child, John B. Frances Willis has one son, W. B., Jr., a year old.

1929

Born to Mr. and Mrs. James S. Skipper, (Mabel Pearson '29) a daughter, Mabel Patricia, May 20, Norfolk, Virginia.

Edith (Crowder) Vaill celebrates her first wedding anniversary on August 16. Mr. Vaill is a graduate of Phillips Academy, Andover, and of Yale University. He is a free-lance writer, and up to the present his work has consisted largely of articles on conservation. Elizabeth and her husband visited Alumnae House the latter part of May. Their home is in Hartford, Conn.

Grace (Hankins) Darsie is now director of Health and Physical Education at Peace Junior College, Raleigh.

Mary Inglis is studying this summer at the University of California, concentrating on the newest methods which have been worked out for teaching commercial subjects, in preparation for the four-year course leading to a B.S. in Secretarial Administration which Queens-Chicora (where she is already dean of the department) will introduce this coming year. Both going and coming, Mary is spending a good deal of time visiting the western part of our country.

Violettemae (LaBarr) Hasty is working for the Veteran's Bureau of the Railroad Retirement Board.

Vearl (Livengood) Efrid's daughter, Elizabeth Vearl, was a year old in June.

Marguerite Smith, Winston-Salem; Althea Williams, Graham; Donnis (Gold) Yelton, Shelby; were back on the campus in June.

1930

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Foil (Frances Batte), a daughter, Frances Lynne Foil, December 17, Rowan Memorial Hospital, Salisbury.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Plyler,

Jr. (Alma Blanchard), a son, Marion Timothy III, April 23, Nashville.

Eula Mae Arnold taught last year at Apex after spending six years in Davidson County. Anne (Brown) Triplett '30, Maxine Clark '33, and Geraldine Cameron '36 also teach at Apex, and they had a most enjoyable year together. According to Eula Mae, the best recommendation one can give in that section of the country is to say she is a graduate of Woman's College!

Glenn (Boyd) MacLeod lives now in Gainesville, Florida, where her husband is a member of the faculty of the University of Florida.

Did you see these members of the class on Alumnae Day?—Mary Lynch Phipps, Myrtle Lee Vick, Lois Jennings, Mabel LaBarr, Eula Mae Arnold.

Nina Greenlee came down for commencement this year from her home in Marion, where she teaches in the High School. She also stayed for the summer session.

Lois Jennings is living a busy life, working in her father's store and taking care of her twin sister's children, two little girls, aged three and nine. Their mother died in August, 1937. Lois says that she still finds time to think of College and of her classmates.

Mabel LaBarr is an interviewer with the North Carolina State Employment Service, Greensboro. Her latest hobbies are flower arrangement and collecting Indian relics in North Carolina.

1931

Born to Mr. and Mrs. James J. Goulden (Anne Gordon McDowell), a daughter, Linda Wightman, December 14, Knoxville, Tennessee.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Farr, Jr. (Kate Robinson), a daughter, Lina Hendley, February 24, Greensboro.

Several members of the class registered for commencement this year: Esther (Godley) Everett, Washington; Mary Henri (Robinson) Peterson, Greensboro; Reenett Ross, Hamlet; Margaret (Freeland) Taylor; Iris (Nelson) Cooke; Evelyn Wellman; Inez (Hines) Omohundro; Christine Williams, Kinston; Leisel Womble, Siler City; Sue (Horner) Sample, Greensboro.

Eloise Banning is now a member of the staff of the Rockingham County Public Welfare Department, of

SHEILA CORLEY '38, Greensboro

*Who wrote the Class Poem
Last year president of Quill Club, creative writing group on the Campus.*

which Mrs. Georgia (Keiger) Wilson ex-12 is head. Eloise is doing case work in the Leaksville section. After graduation from Woman's College, she studied in the school of social service at Western Reserve University, had experience in the state of Ohio, and later was connected with the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill as supervisor of students studying in the field of social work.

Madge (Cline) Young has recently moved to Cornelius, where her husband has accepted the principalship of the high school. They have two children—Billy Max, three, and Carolyn, eighteen months.

Evelyn Patricia Cummings came all the way from San Francisco for commencement. She is spending the summer in High Point, but will return to the west coast next fall to resume her position as teacher.

Sara Henry was elected first vice president of the Greensboro unit of the Pilot International Club at a recent meeting. Ruthe Shafer '30 is corresponding secretary of this organization, and was one of its representatives at a district meeting in Columbia, South Carolina, late in April.

Selma Stegall and Jessie Fitzgerald '29 sailed for Europe on July 1 for a stay of two months.

1932

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Silas Walker Blanton (Alyce Fuller '32), a son, Silas Walker, Jr., May 21, Marion.

Miss Augustine LaRochelle, of the Romance Language Department, and Dr. Ruth Hannas, of the School of Music, spent the month of June travelling in Cuba. While away they saw Adda (Anderson) De Moya '32, Olga Mallo '37, Paola Zervigon, and Ylia Puig's '38 father, all of whom entertained the college visitors. Before returning, Miss LaRochelle and Dr. Hannas were hostesses to the group at a dinner party at Hotel Miami, Havana. Adda Anderson's husband is manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Havana. They have a daughter six months old. Olga and Paola studied at the University of Havana last year. Ylia is to be married in the States this summer.

Eliza Hatcher is food purchaser and dietitian for two country clubs near Johnson City, New York, which are owned by the International Business Machines Corporation. The home office and plant for manufacturing is in Endicott, New York. Eliza attended the National Dietetic Convention in Richmond last spring and enjoyed seeing Miss Coolidge and Miss Edwards from the college faculty. She also visited Pat (Shreve) Ruffin who lives there. She says, "The Alumnae News keeps me posted on what is happening at College, and it is always most welcome."

Avery (McConnell) Hood was appointed case work supervisor for Mecklenburg County in April. She is in charge of eleven case workers. Avery holds a diploma from the New York School of Social Work and also attended the New York School of Social Research. She has had wide experience in social work both in North Carolina and in New York. She and Mr. Hood have recently moved from New York City to the Hood estate near Matthews. She is remembered on the campus especially as president of the student government association.

Ruth (McCaughan) Carter continues to teach English in the High Point Senior High School. In addition, she is secretary of the Business and Professional Women's Club there, and rounded out a busy spring schedule with a course in Red Cross First Aid for the local Red Cross chapter.

Katherine Murray, Mozelle Causey '29, and Adelaide Keister ex-36, are members of the summer playground staff in Greensboro. This project is in general charge of the City Recreational Director.

Gladys Price was at her home in Greensboro for a while this spring recuperating from an appendectomy, but is now back at her work in Pittsburgh. She studied last winter at the University of Pittsburgh.

Christine Williams has taught in the Ayden High School for the past four years.

1933

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Pete Phillips (Allie Sue Sherrill '33), a daughter, Mary Jane, September 29, 1937, Cameron.

Lollie Boyd was married on December 26, 1937, to Jack Sigmund of Great Falls, S. C. At home Stanley.

Mary Frances Brame is teaching French and English in the high school of her home town, Wendell.

Kay Brown teaches at Miami Edison High School. She and Scotty Ewart planned to go to camp this summer, at Bear Walla near Hendersonville or at Lake Lure.

Corinne (Flowers) Clark is teaching in the Summer School, Greensboro.

Edwina McDowell was a student in the University of Chicago School of Social Work for six months beginning with January, doing advanced work. She received an appointment from the North Carolina State Department of Child Welfare to study there. She and Katherine Moser, who has been doing advanced study in history at Chicago for the past year, and Ruth Owen, who is also working toward a degree in Social Work, meet all along. Ruth has an attractive apartment, and the three girls enjoy it very much.

A number of the class were seen around on the campus during commencement: Claire Hartsook, Lucy Crocker, Greensboro; Burdine Womble, Siler City; Mildred (Templeton) Miller, Mooresville; Peggy (Vanstory) Seay, Huntersville; Sallie (Sharp) Taylor, Clarksville, Tenn.; Ella Poin-dexter, New York; Virginia Pearce, Thomasville; A. V. (Poe) Williams, Champaign, Ill.; Margaret Walters, Elm City; Frances Brame, Wendell; Douglas (Archibald) Morrison.

A. V. (Poe) Williams' husband, Carter Williams, was one of four students of the Architectural Department at the University of Illinois elected to the Gargoyle fraternity, which requires written examinations for entrance after the candidates are chosen.

Sara Seagle gave up her work as secretary in the library at Woman's College to become secretary to Mr. Charles H. Stone, former librarian here, at William and Mary College. There she will also have in charge the practice library of the library school.

Lottie Wall, teacher of English and dramatics at the Greensboro Senior High School, carried the leading feminine role in the play, "All in the Family," presented during April by the Greensboro Association of Classroom Teachers.

1934

(From Alice Armfield, Class President.)

Born to Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Woodard (Elizabeth Mitchell), a daughter, Elizabeth Parker, April 20, Fredericksburg, Va.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John H. London (Helen Renfrow), a daughter, Helen Renfrow, May 28, Pitts-boro.

Seen on the campus at commencement: Dorothy (Burnside) Bell, Martha (Meroney) Weisner, Charlotte; and Ernestine Sherwin, Greensboro.

Alice Armfield sailed on the Normandie June 15 for a three months vacation in Europe. "Please wish my classmates a Happy Reunion for me!"

Reaville Austin gave up her work as laboratory technician in one of the Winston-Salem hospitals to accept a similar position at the hospital in her home town, Rocky Mount. She and Catherine Marrow roomed together for four years in college and they had been living together in Winston-Salem also, and when Reaville decided to leave, Catherine says she felt she had to go too! Catherine writes that the Little Theatre Guild in Winston-Salem has been consuming a large part of her time. She has been doing costume work.

Catharine Curl was married to C. W. Murray on Thanksgiving Day, 1934, at her home in Creedmore, and moved to Newton, where her husband was Registrar of Deeds for Catawba County. In June, 1937, after spending some time in Fayetteville, they moved to Greenville, where they are now living.

Pat Dorsey teaches in the Newton High School.

Vivian Gibson taught history and geography in the seventh grade of Wise (Va.) High School last year. One of the units of work in her class was written up in the Richmond Times Dispatch. The unit was coal, and the class built a model coal camp. Vivian spends each summer in a girls' summer camp.

Rebecca Hoskins did graduate work at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, the year after her graduation, and then studied at the Pennsylvania School of Social Work for the Emergency Recovery Administration in Guilford County and in Rockingham County. But in February, 1936, the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare sent her to Polk County to organize a department of public welfare there. She has had this post for two years. She lives in Tryon.

Thelma Hoyle, now Mrs. Charles Edward Nash, lives in Charlotte, where Mr. Nash is a salesman for Wilson & Company, Chicago. For three years previous to her marriage, Thelma taught geography in the grammar grades of the Pittsburgh High School.

For three years Mae Hunt taught Vocational Home Economics near Graham. Last year she taught in the Elon College High School, and lived in one of the college dormitories.

Mary Heath Lewis has been teaching at Grifton during the past year.

Bernice Love is spending the summer at Columbia University, completing her work on an M.A. degree. She is a member of the High Point High School faculty.

Last year Mary Mann again taught in Kannapolis.

Claudia Moore teaches modern dance at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln. This summer, Claudia is studying at the Bennington School of the Dance, Bennington, Vermont.

Priscilla Mullen spent last year at her home in Roanoke Rapids. Previously, she taught at Gunston Hall School, Washington City.

Mary Nading teaches in Winston-Salem and lives at home.

Jincy (Owen) Messer has a daughter, Patsy, fifteen months old. Jincy does substitute teaching in Canton. During her leisure time she writes short stories and humorous articles.

Nedje (Patterson) Cotten is living in Richmond, Virginia. Her husband is a salesman for the Packard Motor Company. They have one son, Simeon Henry IV, better known as "Sunshine."

For the past two years, Ione Perry has been buyer of ready-to-wear in the junior department of the Ideal Department Store, Winston-Salem. Each season she makes one or several trips to New York to the market. "During the day when I am there," she writes, "I am busy as a bee selecting the clothes for my department for the coming season, but during the evenings, I have time to keep up with the theatres and things of interest that only New York offers."

Margaret (Plonk) Isley is living in Burlington. She and her husband have a four-room apartment, and Margaret is enjoying housekeeping.

Clara Poteat is employed as chemist with the Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem.

Margaret (Rabb) Rash teaches public school music in two elementary schools, Lenoir. For three years previous to last year she taught music in Granite Falls.

Martha Sample taught home economics at Central Junior High School, Greensboro, last year.

Ruth (Sechrest) Brown and her small daughter, Beverly Faire, visited in Greensboro the middle of June. They live in Akron, Ohio.

Lois Siler teaches mathematics in the high school at Leaksville.

Margaret (Spenser) Clare is still living in Philadelphia. Last summer she and her husband went on a trip to the Virgin Islands. For two months they lived on St. John, where they increased the total white population to twelve. They made their own geological surveys, went fishing, rode horseback on rough trails, explored ruins from the early Danish and French civilization. Margaret's husband is a second year medical student at Temple University. Margaret is keeping house, taking piano lessons, and reading a great deal in her spare time.

During the last year Frances Swift worked in the Radio Commercial Department of Benton & Bowles, one of the large advertising agencies of New York. She is now assistant purchasing agent of the company. Her leisure moments she spends reading, seeing the new plays, visiting places like the Stork Club, the Cotton Club, and the Paradise, and hearing such lecturers as Ludwig Lewisohn, Bruce Bliven, and John Haynes Holmes.

Margaret Tomlinson taught biology in the Charles L. Coon High School, Wilson, last year.

Since graduation Caroline Trenholm has been teaching piano in LaGrange. She also teaches in two other consolidated schools about nine miles from LaGrange. Her class numbers about forty. In June, Caroline, escorted by G. Matheson Young, president of the Carolina Cotillion Club, led the figure at the 58th annual June German in Rocky Mount.

Elizabeth (Wills) Whittington entertained at her new home in Greensboro during June, honoring Rachel Lipscomb who was married to Ralph Coit Graves in the spring. Anna Wills '35, Adelaide (Fortune) Holderness '34, Susan (Gregory) Hamner '32, were among those who assisted the hostess.

Louise (Zimmerman) Bender writes from Lexington: "I keep busy cooking, cleaning house, etc., for my country-doctor husband." Her son was born on November 3, 1937.

Rebecca Troutman teaches English in the tenth and eleventh grades at Balls Creek High School near Newton. There are twenty-six teachers in the school and about one thousand pupils.

Rowena (Tull) Brinser lives in Richmond, Virginia. In July, 1934, she went to Richmond, to take her student dietetic work at the Medical College of Virginia. She completed her graduate study there in April, 1935. During that summer she did relief work in the dietary department at the Medical College. In September she joined the dietary staff, as director of the personnel cafeteria. On August 14, 1937, she was married to John Russell Brinser. Her husband is teacher and coach in a boys' private school.

Saxon Voss, now Mrs. Paul Scarborough, lives in Statesville. She has a son about a year old.

Grace Williams is doing Child Welfare Work in Chapel Hill and is studying for her Master's degree in social work. She is taking part in the state-wide demonstration program in Child Welfare, in the three-county unit of Orange, Durham, and Chatham, which has been set up through the cooperation of the Federal Children's Bureau, the State Department of Public Welfare, and the University.

1935

Emma White Carlton is an active member of the Greensboro Junior League.

Margaret Hamlin is still enjoying her work in the office of Phillips-Davis, Inc., High Point. She says that her former roommate, Margaret (Halleman) Rudisill, Lincolnton, has a son aged 2½. Her junior roommate, Lucille (McLemore) Austin, Smithfield, also has a son aged 2.

Martha (Hefner) Smith still teaches a second grade at Sumner School.

Seen at College during commencement: Margaret Hamlin, High Point; Louise W. King, Rocky Mount; Margaret Moser, Beth (Nowell) Puckett; Kate Wilkins, Greensboro.

Martha Hefner continues her work as teacher of second grade at Sumner School.

Susanne Ketchum has accepted a position with the Visual Education Center in New Haven, Conn. She will design historic costumes and write plays about the costumes she designs. For the past two years, Susanne has been working toward a Master of Fine Arts degree in dramatics at Yale University.

Helen Lebby participated again this year in the annual Azalea Festival held in Charleston, S. C. Last year Helen reigned over these ceremonies as queen.

Marion McDowell is doing social work in Pittsburgh. She came down to Philadelphia the latter part of April to attend the Annual Conference of the Family Welfare Association of America.

Margaret Moore has recently been honored by the award of a fellowship of $1200.00 from New York University, in the School of Physical Education there next year. Since her graduation, Margaret has been teaching physical education at Central High School, Charlotte, where she has made a splendid contribution.

Margaret Moser is in Chicago this summer studying at the University of Chicago, and living with her sister, Katherine, who has been in residence there since last September, working toward a Ph.D. in history.

Kathryn Royster was in Atlanta for the week of April 20-23 for the national convention of the Association for Health and Physical Education. She says she saw a flock of Woman's College alumnae. Among them were: Nellie-Bond Dickinson '32, whose dance group from Florida State College for Women appeared on the program of the Dance Symposium; Edith Vail '31, Ruth O. Moore '32, Modena Lewis '33, Elena Ewart '34, Lucille Ward '34, Anna Mae Smith '36, Alice Dickinson '37, Josephine Lucas '37, Evelyn Tart '37, and Bee Westervelt. Doris Poole '35 was also there.

Rachel Thigpen is one of the charter members of the Alpha Beta chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, national educational sorority, recently installed in Greensboro.

Christine Weeks went to Bermuda for a visit the middle of May.

Mary Wells is spending the summer with her father in Naples, Maine. She came through Greensboro on her way North from Farmer, where she taught until late in June.

Kate Wilkins sailed July 2 on the S. S. Bremen for two months abroad. She plans to meet her brother in London.

Anna Wills entertained at tea the latter part of June at her home in Greensboro in honor of Elizabeth (Wills) Whittington's '34 house guest, Norma Oakley ex-38, who attended commencement and remained for several weeks thereafter.

1936

Martha Burnside recently resigned her position as technician at Hickory Memorial Hospital, and is now taking a special six-weeks course of study at Harvard University.

Frances Foust was awarded her M.A. degree in Botany from the University of North Carolina in June.

Elizabeth Harvell is having an unusual experience this summer, working with the Pet Dairy in Greensboro. She says she is learning much about milk, "our most perfect food."

Harriet McGoogan is home demonstration agent in Wilkes County. She gave up her work in the cafeteria at Woman's College to accept this new position.

Did you see these at college on June 4: Elizabeth Buhmann, Martha Burnside, Jaxie (Temple) Dowdy?

Drusilla Martin received her M.A. degree in French from the University of North Carolina in June.

Isabelle Moseley made a talk on the program of the Southern Conference on Public Education held at Chapel Hill the latter part of June. Her subject was, "Homemaking in the Elementary School."

Mary Louise Myrick is spending the summer at Virginia Beach with her mother and brother.

Elizabeth Yates is abroad this summer for the third time, but she carries an added thrill with her in the person of her sister, Nancy '40, who is her travelling companion. Elizabeth has been secretary in the office of Dean Jackson for the past two years.

1937

Grace (Bell) Gunning, Weil Fellowship student in 1937, is at the University of Chicago. She is working on the American Dictionary which is being compiled there.

Trannie Yates Coburn studied piano at the Boston Conservatory of Music last year. She gave a recital

E. A. WOODELL

Service Printer

Successor to "Kendall"

221 East Sycamore St. Greensboro, N. C.

there on the evening of June 16. A sister has also been studying voice at the Conservatory. They are at home in Raleigh for the summer.

Susan Hamlin joined the staff of the Nassau County (New York) department of Public Welfare in February as a field worker in the Children's Division.

Among the '37s back for commencement were: Doris Cockerham, Elizabeth Gant, Louise Goodman, Elizabeth Grimsley, Shirley Melchor, Willie Ree Rollins, Geraldine Spinks, June Torian, Kate Urquhart, Alice Watson.

Dorothy Silverman, Morristown, N. J., is planning to enter the school of Library Science at Chapel Hill next fall.

Kate Urquhart was in Greensboro for several days during the commencement season.

Lilla Victor has been doing graduate work at William and Mary in Store Service Education. She is particularly interested in the personnel end of it, and expects to enter that field when her course has been completed.

Ex-37 Miriam (Robinson) Smith wrote the script for the annual May Day festivities at Guilford College this year. Her husband is a member of the faculty there. Miriam depicted an old English town in which the Queen is honored by the presentation of a play, enacted before the court on May 1.

1938

Everlasting officers: president, Lucy Spinks; vice-president, Alma Hall; secretary, Adrienne Wormser; treasurer, Virginia Tatum.

Hazel Barnes went to work in the Farmers Bank, Taylorsville, as soon as she reached home after graduation.

Laura Bateman went to Blue Ridge after commencement to attend the Baptist Student Conference.

We hear that Betty Calder is at Ocean City, New Jersey, being a "lady of leisure" for a few weeks.

Gertrude Clark is planning to go to Columbia University this fall to begin work towards a Master's degree of Sacred Music, with organ as her major. During the summer she has been substituting for the organist at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, High Point, and is enjoying the work immensely.

Isolind DeBoc is spending her vacation at Carolina Beach.

Judith Eller is working during the summer with Mr. L. L. Morgan, State Secretary of the Baptist Sunday Schools in North Carolina. She is one of twenty-five workers who are visiting Baptist churches throughout the State, taking a church census, organizing Sunday Schools, and teaching study courses.

Alma Hall, Eileen Gamble, and Marie Neikirk are all at Chapel Hill this summer, taking additional work in social service.

Jane Matthews is also studying at Chapel Hill.

Louise and Virginia Harris say that during June they were occupied in "hunting down a job." Their later plans included a trip through the New England States, with special attention to the large universities there.

Perrine Hayes has a job as technician in a doctor's office in Fremont.

Camilla Johnson is serving her internship as a laboratory technician in the Moore County Hospital, Pinehurst.

Clarice Jones left July 1 for a trip to Buffalo, N. Y., Niagara Falls, and Canada. Later she spent some time at Pawley's Island, S. C.

Louise Jordan attended commencement at Smith College the week end of June 19.

Helen Kleemeier is spending the greater part of the summer as a unit leader in the Girl Scout Camp, Whitsett.

Suzanne McLaurin says she is dividing the time this summer between her home in Bennettsville, S. C., and her grandmother's house at Myrtle Beach.

Gwen MacMullin is serving as tennis counsellor at Dr. Kephart's Camp Yonahlossee, near Blowing Rock.

Margaret Mahaffey has already commenced her work as a teacher at Samareand Manor.

Mildred Mashburn went to Waynesville early in June, where she has a secretarial job for the summer. She plans to teach this fall.

Lelah Nell Masters is a lady of leisure at her home in Greensboro.

Gladys Meyerowitz writes from Belhaven, enclosing her membership fee in the Alumnae Association—"In the rush of graduation it slipped my mind."

Mary Middleton planned to spend her vacation in Washington City, but the best-laid plans sometimes go awry, and so the mountains of North Carolina instead! Otherwise, she is at home Walnut Cove.

Arthealia Mitchell assisted in the college cafeteria during the first summer session.

Maureen Moore, music major, is in Wilmington, playing with the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra.

Rena Morgan is looking forward to her first year as a teacher. She is spending the summer at home.

Frances Ross Mullican is taking an automobile trip to California, and having a most exciting vacation.

Nan Carrollynn Norwine writes from Flat River, Mo. She says she had a wonderful motor trip going home from college by way of the Skyland Drive, through the great Smoky Mountains National Park. She planned to go to St. Louis to hear the Municipal Operas this summer.

Elnora Raiff has a job this summer as technician in a Lumberton Hospital.

Virginia Smith took a course in Education and in Psychology during the first summer session at Woman's College, and incidentally worked at the switchboard. She has accepted a job at Orrum for next year, to teach commercial subjects.

Frances Sowell went to Georgia soon after graduation day for a visit with relatives. Upon her return, she worked in the College Book Store for several weeks.

Lucy Spinks is serving as secretary in Dr. Jackson's office, while Elizabeth Yates is travelling in Europe.

Gwen Stegall writes that she spent the first two or three weeks after graduation resting at home. Then a week at Myrtle Beach. But her school at Mount Pleasant commenced in July, so that her real vacation will come in October, when the school closes during the harvesting season. Then—Palm Beach! Well—Gwen deserves all of this, and more, after that splendid 1938 Pine Needles.

Lorena Strohm is almost literally spending the summer swimming and boating on the Severn River, near Annapolis, Maryland, her home. In August she plans to come down to

BLUE BIRD TAXI

DIAL 5112

25c 1 to 4 passengers 25c

ALL NEW CARS

North Carolina for Ylia Puig's wedding.

Virginia Tatum was appointed by Governor Hoey to serve as North Carolina sponsor for the annual Rhododendron Festival at Asheville, and was there in that capacity during the week of June 12-19.

Frances Truitt went to Washington City after graduation for a visit of two weeks. In August she begins her work in Mount Gilead as teacher of home economics in a George Reed school.

Alice Walters is music counsellor for the summer at the Greensboro Girl Scout Camp.

Ruth Westcott is spending her vacation at the summer home of her parents—a cottage on one of the 1000 islands in the St. Lawrence River, near Alexandria Bay, New York.

Ruth Whalin writes from her home in Middleboro, Kentucky. After a short trip north, she says she is at home for the summer—"just gaining weight!"

Charlotte Williams went to San Diego, California, the latter part of July, where she expects to remain for six months, studying voice.

Loetta Willis is in Chapel Hill this summer, where she has commenced work toward an M.A. degree in Physics.

Mary Withers has a secretarial job with the State-Aid program of Adult Education, Raleigh. The first week in July she spent in Washington and Atlantic City.

Frances Yerger assisted in the Nursery School at Woman's College during the first summer session.

for it, and noble spirit, that possessed the members of the Class of 1893. * * * May the College always stand for the noble ideas and beautiful trust in God that possessed the Founder." Mrs. Hunter taught in the Greensboro City Schools for three years after graduation, until her marriage to Mr. W. H. Hunter. Eight children came into the home—five daughters and three sons. Each of these daughters is an alumna of this college. All her life, with Mrs. Hunter first things came first. Her home and family, her church, her college, the best interests of her town—wherever and whenever these things were involved, there she was to be found, giving aid of every kind. She was interested, too, in the club life of Greensboro: was a member, and at one time president of the Reviewer's Club, one of the oldest literary clubs in the city. In addition to various church positions, she was one time a member of the City Board of Welfare.

Mrs. Hunter's love for her class, her loyalty to the college, and to the work of the Alumnae Association was an inspiration.

To her daughters, Margaret (Hunter) Stout, com-18, Zelian (Hunter) Helms '23, Elizabeth (Hunter) Lange '24, M.D., Gertrude (Hunter) Dalton, com-24, and Mary Carolyn Hunter '27, and to her entire family, we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

Ex-1901

Nina B. (Knight) Powell, May 6, at her home, Tarboro. Nina Powell was a leader in everything that made for the uplift of humanity. She was a power in the First Baptist Church of her town. She was a member of the city school board and a trustee of the public library. She was an officer in the U.D.C., active in the Farm Women's Club, and other civic groups. Her home was one of the beautiful old colonial houses still to be found in North Carolina, and within its walls the spirit of real friendliness and true hospitality abounded. In Mrs. Powell intelligence, kindness, courage, poise, blended together to make a truly beautiful woman. To her daughter, Mary Collins Powell '24, we extend heartfelt sympathy.

1933

Jack Faust Matlock, M.A., during March. At the time of his death, he was a teacher in the Hunter School, Greensboro. A memorial service for him was later conducted by the Parent-Teacher Association of that school.

Com-1936

Dorothy Cheek, in April, following an automobile accident.

1937

Gretchen Osborne, January 26, from injuries received in an automobile accident on the way from Brevard to meet friends in Asheville. After graduation here, Gretchen went to the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where she spent the summer doing graduate work in the field of social service. The first of September she became a case worker in Transylvania County—a post she was filling with admirable success at the time of her death. Her home was in Guilford College.

We Extend Deepest Sympathy:

To Lyda (Faison) Barnes '03 in the death of her husband, July 8, 1937, Duke Hospital, Durham.

To Sadie (McBrayer) McCain '16 in the death of her father, Dr. L. B. McBrayer, at her home, on April 1. Dr. McBrayer was a civic leader of whom the State is justly proud. But it was his monumental contribution in the struggle to conquer tuberculosis which gives him a secure place in the esteem and affection of the people of the State. At the time of his passing, he had been executive secretary of the State Tuberculosis Association for twenty-five years, and secretary-treasurer of the State Medical Society for twenty-four years. A suitable memorial to him is being planned by a committee of physicians representing the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association, the North Carolina Medical Association, and other outstanding citizens.

To Susan (Green) Finch '18, in the death of her husband, Mr. Charles F. Finch, August 18, 1937, following an operation in a Winston-Salem hospital. Mr. Finch was one of the pioneers in the furniture industry and in other enterprises whose leadership developed Thomasville from a country village to an important manufacturing center in the State. Although he had large and various business interests, his activities were not confined to them. His family, his neighbors, his friends, his church and religious work, his city—he loved them all, and served them too; so much so that by young and old he was affectionately known as "Mr. Charley."

To Ezda Deviney '19 in the death of her mother, Mrs. Hannah Deviney, at her home in Julian, March 25.

To Adelaide (Van Noppen) Howard '19 and Charlotte Van Noppen '30, in the death of their father, Charles L. Van Noppen, from an automobile accident, June 15, Greensboro. Publisher and pub-

NECROLOGY

IN MEMORIAM

1893

Carrie (Mullins) Hunter, April 6, Greensboro. Mrs. Hunter will always be remembered on the campus as one of the "Immortal Ten" members of the first graduating class. She had already been graduated from what was then Peace Institute, but upon invitation of President McIver enrolled among the first students to enter the new institution, studied an additional year, and was graduated at the close of the first year. In a letter written to her classmates in 1927, she said, "I could wish nothing greater for our College than that every girl graduated should go away with the sincere loyalty and love

Byrum's University of Dance

"Where dancing is correctly taught"

218½ South Greene St.

Phone 5067

licist, Mr. Van Noppen was an outstanding citizen of Greensboro. Honest and sincere in his convictions, fearless in his championship of whatever cause he believed to be right, he left his impression upon the cultural and progressive life of the City and State.

To Josephine Hopkins '20, in the death of her mother, Mrs. David Reid Hopkins, June 16, at her home, Monticello.

To Grace (Hankins) Darcie '29, in the death of her mother, February 18, High Point.

To Alice Frederick, com-37, in the death of her brother in an automobile accident on May 16.

MARRIED

Lula Martin (Melver) Scott '21 to John Dickinson, June 1, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Charles D. Melver, Greensboro. Before resigning previous to her marriage, the bride was regional director of Women's and Professional projects for the WPA in the New England and New York area. Her marriage will be of especial interest to all Woman's College connections, not only for herself, but because of her father and mother. The bridegroom is general solicitor for the Pennsylvania Railroad and Professor of Constitutional Law at the University of Pennsylvania. He is a former Assistant Secretary of Commerce and a former Assistant Attorney General of the United States. He holds degrees from Johns Hopkins University, Princeton University, and Harvard Law School. He is also author of several books on law and political science, and holds membership in a number of honorary societies. At home, Crosiadore, Trappe, Maryland.

Patsy Calvert '23 to Albert Spencer Calvert, June 1, Edenton Street Methodist Church, Raleigh. Margaret (Calvert) Duncan ex-25 was the single attendant. For several years Patsy taught in the schools of the state. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Liverpool and Cambridge, and for a number of years has been in the British consular service, having served in Persia, Egypt, and Arabia. He was recently knighted by King George. At home in London, England.

Lois (Barnett) Talyor '24 to William Jackson Hunter, May 14, New Bern. The bridegroom is operator of Jack Hunter Construction Company, Building Contractors, Greensboro. At home there.

Edith Adele Goodwin '26 to Jesse Barbour, April 18, Columbia, S. C. Edith received her M.D. degree from the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania in 1932, and is a popular physician in Morganton. At home there.

Martha Cannady '27 to William W. Carroll, May 28, Hood Memorial Christian Church, Dunn. Barbara Lee Cashwell, daughter of Agnes (Cannady) Cashwell '22 was one of the flower girls. The bridegroom is a graduate of the School of Pharmacy, University of North Carolina, and is a member of Rho Chi Society. At present he is connected with the Fitchett Drug Company, Dunn. At home there.

Clara Evelyn Gill '27 to Stephen Vance Wilkins, April 2, at the home of the bride's parents, Henderson. The bridegroom is an alumnus of State College, Raleigh. At home Rose Hill.

Mary Lilly Cate '29 to Clifford S. Ayres, April 12, at the home of the bride's parents, Columbia, S. C. The bridegroom is an alumnus of the University of Miami, and is now supervisor of the Tabulating Department of the Lehigh Navigation Coal Company. At home Lansford, Pennsylvania.

Sadie Lou Southerland '30 to William A. Hunt, June 18, First Baptist Church, Goldsboro. The bridegroom is a graduate of State College, and now holds a position with the Farm Security Administration, Raleigh. At home there.

Annie Royal Saunders '31 to Clyde Cass Carter, June 11, at the home of the bride's parents, Wilmington. The bridegroom is a graduate of Vanderbilt University where he also received his Master's degree. He is now practicing law in Wilmington. At home there.

Charlotte Thorpe '32 to B. Moore Parker, June 8, First Presbyterian Church, Rocky Mount. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and holds a responsible position in the trust department of the Raleigh branch of the Wachovia Bank & Trust Company. At home Raleigh.

Marion (Vaughan) Holoman '32 to Dr. Floyd Jackson Fowler, five in the afternoon, June 23, Rich Square. Mebane (Holoman) Burgwyn '35 and Iris (Nelson) Cooke '32 were two of the bridesmaids. Agnes (Martin) Smith '34 played the wedding music which preceded the special voice and violin numbers. Of special interest to all alumnae is the fact that the bride is the daughter of our Alumnae President, Vaughan (White) Holoman '07. After Marion's graduation from Woman's College, she studied at the School of Social Work of Western Reserve University, where she was awarded her M.A. degree. Since that time she has done outstanding social work in Cleveland, winning high praise from leaders in that great field. The bridegroom is a graduate of Arkansas College, holds his M.D. degree from the University of Arkansas, and is associated with the Akron, Ohio, Clinic. The wedding guests included visitors from seven states—most of them above the Mason-Dixon line. They were charmed with Southern barbecue, Brunswick stew, chess pie, pound cake, fried chicken. Nor were they less enthusiastic over gardenias by the hundred, magnolias, and other evidences of the south they knew in literature. Marion's many friends at Woman's College wish her and her husband life's best happiness.

Louise Daniel '33 to Dr. George Sinclair Rhome, June 25, at the home of the bride's parents, Greensboro. Margaret Daniel '34 was the only attendant. The bridegroom is a graduate of the College of Charleston and of the Medical College of the State of North Carolina. He is a fellow of the American College of Surgeons and for several years has been doing general practice and surgery in Camden, S. C. At home there.

Virginia McGuire '33 to Eugene Charles Bullock, June 18, at the home of the bride's parents, Franklin, Margaret (McGuire) Cooper '33, twin sister, was matron of honor. At home Hamlet.

Ruth Mendenhall '33 to William Cowan Burton, June 11, Asheboro Street Friends Church, Greensboro. Lottie Wall '33, Katherine Murray '32, Louise Daniel '33 and Margaret Daniel '34 were bridesmaids. Marietta Thompson, daughter of Evelyn (Mendenhall) Thompson '24 was junior bridesmaid. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Wharton

"SERVICE"

PHIL R. CARLTON, Inc.

Real Estate • Rents • Insurance
Bonding

Carlton Building, Opposite Courthouse
Dial 8157

GREENSBORO, N. C.

School of the University of Pennsylvania, and a member of Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity. He is associated in the furniture business with his father in Asheville. At home there.

Adelaide Crowell '34 to Fred Felmet, Jr., June 11, at the home of the bride's parents, High Point. Susan Sharp '34 played a cello number in the wedding music. The bridegroom is connected with the schools of Richmond, Virginia.

Rachel Lipscomb '34 to Ralph Coit Graves, May 28, at the home of the bride's parents, Greensboro. The bridegroom, brother of Barbara Graves '35, is an alumnus of Taft School, Watertown, Conn., and Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y. At present he is connected with the Security Research Bureau, with headquarters in Greensboro and New York. At home in Greensboro until fall, when they will establish residence in New York City.

Frances McNeill '34 to James Rodefer Thomas, June 18, First Baptist Church, Lumberton. The bridegroom is an alumnus of the University of North Carolina and a member of Kappa Sigma and Chi Epsilon fraternities. He is also a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers. In business, he is chief engineer and secretary-treasurer of the Cumberland Coal Corporation and the Southern Tennessee Coals, Inc., Chattanooga. At home there.

Susan Sharp '34 to John C. Murphy, Jr., June 18, at the home of the bride's parents, High Point. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, and is now arranger for Johnny Long's Orchestra, which is playing this summer at the Cavalier Beach Club, Virginia Beach.

Olive Spence '34 to William Redden Dawes, May 28, St. Paul's Methodist Church, Goldsboro. The bridegroom will complete his law course at the University of North Carolina this summer. He is a member of the Law Review staff.

Betty Allardice '35 to Greg Bohrer, April 16, Community Church, Mountain Lakes, New Jersey. At home Jackson Heights, Long-Island, New York.

Elizabeth Leftwich '35 to Henry Homer Chase, May 21, at the home of the bride's parents, Mooresville, Alabama. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Bowdoin College, and is a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity. At present he is a member of the firm of Chase Nursery Company. At home, Chase, Alabama.

Mary McFarland '35 to Garland Eugene Midyette, June 18, First Baptist Church, Oxford. Dorothy Parham '27 played the organ music. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Wake Forest College and a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity; he also received his law degree from Wake Forest. At the present time he is connected with the State Parole Commission, Raleigh. At home there.

Kathryn Selma Ginsberg '36 to Arnold Irving Jacobs, June 14, Temple Emmanuel, Greensboro. Alumnae taking part in the wedding included Charlotte Michlin '39, Jane Goodwin '37, Amelia Block '36, Rebecca Jeffress '36, Carolyn (Weill) LeBauer '36, and Ruth (Roth) Rypins '17. The bridegroom is an alumnus of the University of North Carolina where he was a prominent football player. He is now associated in business with his father in operating Vogue, a men's clothing firm in Raleigh. At home Raleigh.

Mary Lucille Morris '36 to Hazel Eugene Waldrop, June 12, Wentworth. The bridegroom is a graduate of V. P. I. and was a member of "The Skippers," marriage society. He is now an engineer with the Soil Conservation Service. At home Reidsville.

Mazie Hall Spinks '36 to William Herbert Jones, June 18, at the home of the bride's parents, Raleigh. Jerry Spinks '37 and Lucy Spinks '38 were bridesmaids. Other alumnae assisting in the wedding were Eliza Cromartie '36, Sue Sewell '36, Rachel Mower '37, Elizabeth Peden '38, and Rachel Nye '38. The bridegroom is an alumnus of State College and of the University of the South at Sewanee, Tennessee. He is now manager of the Goodrich-Silvertown Store in Mooresville.

Ruth Gorham '37 to George Drennen Davis, June 28, Battleboro. At home Mishawaka, Indiana. Ruth taught French and English in the Angier High School last year.

Justine Ulrich '37 to Hoyt Winfield Capps, June 21, New York City.

Geraldine Budd '38 to Charles Lemuel Carroll, Jr., June 8, at the home of the bride's parents, Mount Vernon Springs. Jane Ellis was one of her two bridesmaids. The bridegroom is a graduate of Guilford College, and of the University of North Carolina, where he is continuing his work toward a Ph.D. in mathematics.

Dorothy Creech '38 to Edwin Graves Holt, March 12, Chatham, Virginia. The bridegroom is a graduate of Davidson College, and a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. In business he is connected with the New York office of Cone Export and Commission Company. At home in Jackson Heights, Long Island.

Evelyn Kernodle '38 to Charles Alexander Pratt, four-thirty in the afternoon, July 4, West Market Street Methodist Church, Greensboro. Jessie Douglas '38 was maid of honor. Margaret Kernodle '34 and Cassandra Kernodle '41 were bridesmaids. Frances Kernodle '35, member of the medical center staff in New York City, was present for the wedding. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, and is now on the editorial and reportorial staff of the Greensboro Daily News. At home Greensboro.

Barbara Thompson '38 to Edgar C. Wrightson, June 11, at the home of the bride's parents, Spartanburg, S. C. The bridegroom is a business man. After an automobile trip through the Shenandoah Valley, they sailed for Bermuda, and after their return went to Canada for a few days. At home Spartanburg.

HOME OF SOCIETY PINS

207 South Elm

Phone 2-0044

ALWAYS FIRST

In Showing the Newest

BETTY LOU HAT SHOPPE

126 South Elm Street

JOS. J. STONE & COMPANY

Printers and Bookbinders

Everything for the office

225 South Davie Street

GREENSBORO, N. C.

THE MODE CHANGES WITH THE TEMPO OF THE TIMES

Styles do change rapidly nowadays, and the modern woman practices wise economy who selects carefully designed models — these gowns will remain a distinctive part of her wardrobe

A selection of our mid-season models at greatly reduced prices
COATS • SUITS • GOWNS • SPORTSWEAR • MILLINERY

MONTALDO'S — JEFFERSON BUILDING

STOCKING GIFTS

are different—

WHEN THEY'RE

MOJUD
Clari-phane
SILK STOCKINGS

• Different because Mojuds are the "stockings the screen stars wear." So exquisitely lovely — that the world's most beautiful women, Hollywood's stars, choose them to wear both on and off stage. Mojuds are different because for all their beauty they give consistently good wear. Different because there's a special Mojud for every costume, for every occasion, for every taste. Whether you give her one pair . . . or a whole stocking wardrobe, she'll be delighted if your gift is Mojud.